A Tradition Of Style

Natalie wore a number of special accessories, including a pin-on for her bouquet that was made by her mother and included a piece of her mother's wedding veil, as well as her great-grandmother's wedding dress. Natalie also donned a bracelet that had been passed from bride to bride between her mother's best friend's family and close friends - it was the same bracelet Natalie's mother wore on her own wedding day!

Dinner was held outdoors in the Cutting Garden, the centerpiece of which was a gorgeous lawn framed by white roses and a modern garden featuring lush florals and lavender. Soulflower Design Studio created delicate and lovely multi-stem centerpiece arrangements for an elegant and airy effect. Guests then moved into the adjacent Garden House - an indoor-outdoor space featuring wood tones - for dancing and dessert.

Figs were featured in specialty cocktails, such as the fig and mint margaritas. The couple's tiered olive oil cake included layers of fig jam and orange buttercream, and was garnished with fresh figs.

Late-Night Snacks With Ambiance

Late-night snacks featured heirloom popcorn, house-made kettle chips and dip, and Napa wildflower honey and walnut brownies!

What made this wedding extra special was that the couple really wanted to prioritize the culinary experience. Because bride Natalie has celiac disease, the entire wedding day menu, from the hors d'oeuvres to the dinner menu, all the way through the cake and late-night snacks, were customized to provide a completely gluten-free menu, free of cross-contamination, from start to finish!
